Description-

On June 13, 2025, the National Service Scheme (NSS) Unit of Bharati Vidyapeeth Deemed University Engineering College (BVDUET) NM organized a tree plantation drive at the NM Garden area to commemorate World Environment Day, which is observed on June 5. The event commenced at 10:00 AM with a collective pledge by participants to reduce plastic usage and promote sustainable practices. Following the oath, attendees engaged in planting saplings around the campus, enhancing the green cover and contributing to environmental conservation efforts. The event also featured informative sessions on waste segregation and the importance of reducing single-use plastics, fostering a deeper understanding among participants. Notably, the celebration witnessed active participation from the Program Officer and esteemed faculty members, whose presence and involvement significantly enriched the event. Their engagement not only motivated the students but also exemplified the institution's commitment to environmental stewardship. The event concluded with a group photograph, capturing the collective spirit of the day and reinforcing the message of unity in environmental conservation. This observance not only commemorated World Environment Day but also served as a testament to BVDUET's dedication to fostering a sustainable future through education and awareness.
