SACRIFICE FOR NATION

The Blood shed by our warriors :

The horrible days they spend ,
In the wars that never end.
To protect the families and friend ,
And to let our lives extend.

Here comes the warrior,
our bold, brave carrier.
He conquers every barrier,
By becoming a Merciless Harrier.

In their sacrifice,we find the true offer,
As they have to suffer ,
They keep their pain in Coffers,
And make themselves even Tougher .

They don't get afraid,
and fight as they said ,
Till the last blood shed ,
So their people get spared .

STUDENTS CONTRIBUTION

The Night Duty

It was my first night duty, and honestly, I was nervous. The hospital felt different at night—quieter, a little heavier.

Around 2:30 AM, a patient rang the bell. I walked in, trying to stay calm even though my heart was racing. She looked uncomfortable and a bit scared. I didn't know exactly what to say, but I sat beside her, held her hand, and spoke softly.

Within a few minutes, she relaxed.

Before I left, she said, "I feel better now... thank you."

That moment stayed with me.

It made me realize that nursing is not only about giving medicines or following procedures. Sometimes, just being there for someone matters the most.

That night, I understood what being a nurse truly means.
